“The presentation of financial structures requires that we communicate complex, quantitative ideas in efficient and functional ways. This is accomplished firstly with proper organization and secondly by effectively integrating the visual tools of quantitative presentation. Foremost among these tools are text, graphics, cash flows and art work.”

Laurence H. Wadler

“You may well see that it is quite a “job”, this one the young in spirit have on hand; quite a work they now have to do? Some fight this, to clear away our dead-past by clear thinking to make way for direct and honest building out of what ground we have to what light there is. No, it is all not so simple, nor is it too difficult. But it cannot be done by the architect alone while our social structure itself is in the same senseless chaotic state. But our spirits are still alive in this rubbish heap. . . The old order passes and the new meantime is groping, growing, hoping to find something more integral and consistent with the laws of Nature; the love of human nature square with human life. We will see what can be done”

Frank Lloyd Wright
